

"Nearly all men can stand adversity, but if you want to test a man's character, give him power."

- Abraham Lincoln

Leadership, Lincoln + You

Please take a few minutes to rate your leadership traits. Circle 3 if the statement is mostly true, 2 if it is somewhat true, and 1 if it mostly not true. Total your scores for each column, then add those three numbers together for your total results. Scroll down to understand your results.

No.	Leadership Trait	Mostly Not	Somewhat	Mostly Yes
1	I know what I stand for and I remain committed to my values even when doing so will cost me money, power or popularity.	1	2	3
2	I know what I want and I am willing to suspend my personal feelings and make difficult sacrifices to achieve the greater goal.	1	2	3
3	I am aware of my own weaknesses and I compensate for them.	1	2	3
4	I have the capacity to invite and consider different points of view.	1	2	3
5	I have the ability to learn from my mistakes.	1	2	3
6	I have a ready willingness to share credit for success.	1	2	3
7	I have a ready willingness to share blame for failure by others.	1	2	3
8	I have the ability to communicate clearly and believably my vision and goals, and I use storytelling and humor to bring ideas to life.	1	2	3
9	I regularly meet with employees, customers, suppliers and other stakeholders outside my office.	1	2	3
10	I know how to relax and replenish, and I am committed to doing so.	1	2	3

“Nearly all men can stand adversity, but if you want to test a man’s character, give him power.”

- Abraham Lincoln

Understanding Your Results

25-30

These are high scores, indicating you are very clear about what matters most to you in your personal life and in the workplace. This clarity guides you in making tough decisions. Your capacity to invite other points of view and to admit mistakes translates into effective leadership. People want to follow you.

21-24

These are medium scores, indicating opportunities to define more specifically your personal leadership style. Take a fresh look at how you communicate your vision, how you gather information for decision-making, and how you maintain a sense of humor and replenish your energy during the grind of day-to-day challenges.

0-20

These are low scores, indicating that you lack clarity about what you stand for, what you want, and areas where improvement can make you an even better leader. List the best and worst traits of leaders you’ve known to bring into focus the leadership traits that will inspire people to follow you.